DETAILED ACTION

Response to Arguments

The Applicant's arguments filed on 12/27/2006 are not persuasive. As Moscovici(US Patent 6678765) discloses the external memory module(34) being controlled by an CPU(31) and DSP(32) see Fig. 2. And this external memory module contains data related to handshaking process, which is an security feature of the circuitry, in an broader sense because it contains information identifying the parties involved in the communication see Col 3 Ln 30-39.

Although the Applicant's mentions security data being related to keys, booting of circuitry, secret data, and algorithms there is no mention of this in the claims. And the Examiner has taken the broadest reasonable interpretation in determining the scope of the claims. Moscovici and Smith fail to explicitly disclose such a feature.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

Claims 1-4, 6-10,12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by US Patent 6678765 B1 to Moscovici et al.(hereinafter Moscovici).

Regarding Claim 1,7, 13, Moscovici discloses the storage area(see Fig. 2 item 34 & 37) which has protected area relating to security see Col 3 Ln 40-56(handshaking programs and OS contains secure information regarding the unit); a mode setting means for processor to two operating modes and altering modes see Fig. 2 item 31 & 32 & Col 4 Ln 66- Col 5 Ln 6 (where the CPU and DSP take turns writing/reading from external and internal memory, during which time the other is disabled/idle mode); access control means to enable CPU to access protected data see Col 4 Ln 22-35 & Col 3 Ln 40-60(the OS is usually an protected data and only accessible by the CPU during operations regarding control and further the CPU configuring of DSP which is generally also data that is protected); and access control means for preventing CPU from accessing storage area when DSP is mode is set thereby enabling the DSP to execute software that has been downloaded see Col 6 Ln 3-22(where the CPU and DSP use the memory module and buffers to fetch and execute instructions alternatively and since only one of CPU or DSP can access the module and registers thus effectively preventing the other).

Regarding Claim 2,8,14, Moscovici discloses the CPU sending seven instructions and afterwards deciding whether to be idle or active state see Col 6 Ln 13-23 & Fig. 5.

Regarding Claim 3, 9,15, Moscovici discloses the handshaking programs which are consistent with authentication see Col 3 Ln 30-46.

Regarding Claim 4, 10, 16, Moscovici discloses the CPU being operated in idle and data mode see Col 6 Ln 13-23 & Col 3 Ln 30-39.

Regarding Claim 6,12,18, Moscovici discloses the mobile telecommunications terminal see Col 3 Ln 23-28.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

Claims 5, 11 and 17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over US Patent 6678765 B1 to Moscovici et al.(hereinafter Moscovici) in view of U.S Patent 6449281 B1 to Smith.

Regarding Claim 5 ,11, and 17, Moscovici does not disclose the mode setting means being a application program. However, Smith discloses the video and diagnostic application controlling modes of CPU and DSP see Fig. 1A item 46 & 13. It would be obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to include the video and diagnostic application controlling modes of CPU and DSP in the invention of Moscovici in order to have a adaptable application controlled via user as taught in Smith see Col 2 Ln 36-48.

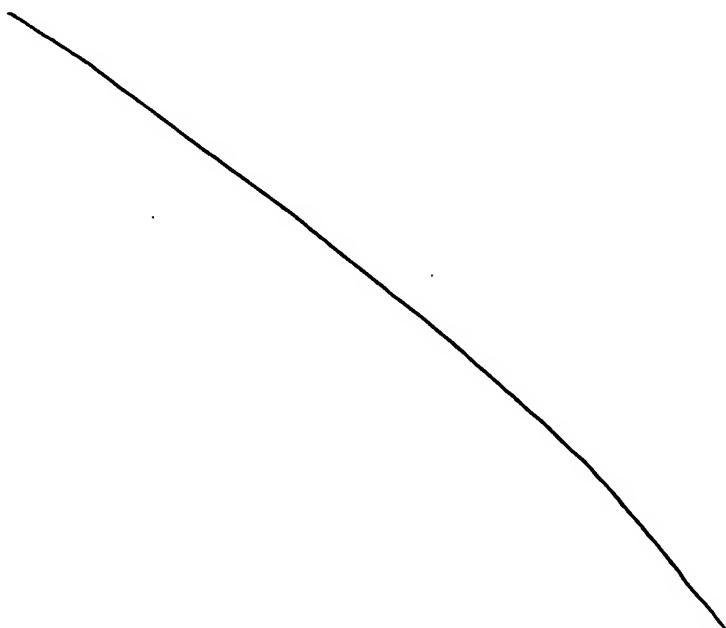

Conclusion

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a). A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
